expense of working different mines, the structure and a very content of their working. This work is to be published in a condensed form in the Journal, in a series of tweekly papers, conveniently arranged under appropriatesheads, with statistical tables of different districts, and such plans and drawings as my be found desirable.

Heasides this work on iron, Mr. Hodge is to furnish to the Journal, detailed accounts of the copper and lead mines of the United States, which have been carefully examined by him, with information on mining subjects generally.

These works will be found indepensable to all parties engaged in mining and the iron manufacture. This is the first attempt yet made to give, in an elaborate and practical form, a scientific work on the iron ores, the iron manufacture, and mining resources of the whole country.

Gen. C. T. James, of Providence, has also been engaged as an assistant editor of the Journal. He will furnish to the Journal full accounts of the progress of mechanical invention, and of the condition of the progress of mechanical invention, and of the condition of the progress of mechanical invention of the progress of mechanical invention of the progress of mechanical and political importances.

Great Britain owes her present commercial and political importances. Great Britain owes her present commercial and political impor-tance more to the mechanical invention of her people than to any other cause.

American skill, industry, and enterprise, are giving us a distin-guished rank in the community of nations. To these interests, and to the railway, as the most valuable of all, this Journal will be earn-estly devoted.
